The Chinese Government having (through the Hon. Anson Burlingame) conceded to this Company the privilege of connecting the great seaports of the Empire by submarine electric telegraph cable, we propose commencing operations in China, and laying down a line of nine hundred miles at once, between the following ports, viz:

	Population.
Canton	1,000,000
Macoa	60,000
Hong-Kong	250,000
Swatow	200,000
Amoy	250,000
Foo-Chow	1,250,000
Wan-Chu	300,000
Ningpo	400,000
Hang Chean	1,200,000
Shanghai	1,000,000
Total	5,910,000

These ports have a foreign commerce of $900,000,000, and an enormous domestic trade, besides which we have the immense internal commerce of the Empire, radiating from these points, through its canals and navigable rivers.

The cable being laid, this company proposes erecting land lines, and establishing a speedy and trustworthy means of communication, which must command there, as everywhere else, the communications of the Government, of business, and of social life especially in China. She has no postal system, and her only means now of communicating information is by couriers on land, and by steamers on water.

The Western World knows that China is a very large country, in the main densely peopled; but few yet realize that she contains more than a third of the human race. The latest returns made to her central authorities for taxing purposes by the local magistrate make her population Four hundred and Fourteen millions, and this is more likely to be under than over the actual aggregate. Nearly all of these, who are over ten years old, not only can but do read and write. Her civilization is peculiar, but her literature is as extensive as that of Europe. China is a land of teachers and traders; and the latter are exceedingly quick to avail themselves of every proffered facility for procuring early information. It is observed in California that the Chinese make great use of the telegraph, though it there transmits messages in English alone. To-day great numbers of fleet steamers are owned by Chinese merchants, and used by them exclusively for the transmission of early intelligence. If the telegraph we propose connecting all their great seaports, were now in existence, it is believed that its business would pay the cost within the first two years of its successful operation, and would steadily increase thereafter

No enterprise commends itself as in a greater degree renumerative to capitalists, and to our whole people. It is of vast national importance commercially, politically and evangelically.

☞ The stock of this Company has been unqualifiedly recommended to capitalists and business men, as a desirable investment by editorial articles in the New York Herald, Tribune, World, Times, Post, Express, Independent, and in the Philadelphia North American, Press, Ledger, Inquirer, Age, Bulletin and Telegraph.

Shares of this company, to a limited number, may be obtained at $50 each, $10 payable down, $15 on the 1st of November, and $25 payable in monthly instalments of $2.50 each, commencing December 1, 1868, on application to

CHAPTER I.

THE PRISONER OF MID-OCEAN.

Late one summer afternoon, a dozen years ago, a solitary white man stood before an idolatrous temple on an island in the South Pacific.

He was of middle age, tall thin, and gaunt, with rugged featurers and sorrowful eyes, and with every sign of goodness and intelligence.

Beside him was a grim stone idol, in grotesque human form, more than twice as tall as himself which he had just finished, and was indicated by the mallet and chisel in his hands.

"It is done," he muttered. "And these heathen little suspect that I have cut my name and story in the base of this idol."

He ran his eye rapidly over the inscription in question. It was as follows:

> "The 8th of May, 1852, I, David Lester of the firm of Lester & Nichols, of Norfolk, Virginia, sailed as a passenger from Charleston to HongKong, via Cape Horn, in the ship 'Hecla.' A cyclone struck us in mid-ocean, the ship foundered, and we took to the boats, which all filled, with the exception of the one I was in. After drifting several days, during which my companions perished, I reached this island, The Idolatrous inhabitants made me a slave in their temple, and for more than four years I have been doing menial offices and carving images. I have been chained every night, and watched continually by day, but have nevertheless made three attempts at escape, and shall soon make another—doubtless my last, as I am resolved to succeeed or die, preferring death to a longer captivity. I therefore write these words upon this idol, praying any one who may see them to report my fate, if possible, to my family at Norfolk, Virginia. Finished this inscription this 7th day of July, 1857."

For several minutes the prisoner contemplated these lines in silence, and then aroused himself, looking warily around.

"Three times I have tried to escape in a canoe," he mutered," "and every time I was caught, and visited with tortures. To be caught again in such an attempt will be certain death. Yet I will risk all the first opportunity that offers. This longing for freedom and my family is becoming a positive madness. Oh, my God! what is that?"

He gazed in perfect stupefaction to the eastward, far out upon the ocean.

There, miles and leagues away, was a ship, her white sails gleaming as she lay becalmed upon the waters.

"A ship! a ship!" cried Lester, sobbingly. "At last, oh Heaven! At last my prayer is answered!

THE PRISONER'S HOME.

On the east bank of the Elizabeth river, just out of Norfolk, and overlooking Hampton Roads, stood a beautiful cottage, the home of the wife and dauyhter of David Lester, the prisoner of the lone island in the far Pacific.

Near the close of a lovely afternoon in May, Mrs. Lester and her daughter sat together upon their front veranda.

The mother was a lovely sweet-faced, sad-eyed woman of two-and-thirty years.

The daughter, Amy Lester, not yet fifteen, was a strange compound of child and woman.

"You are thinking of father, dear mother?" murmured the maiden, as she marked the lady's longing gaze.

"Yes, child. Your father, my husband; where is he? Somewhere under the sea waves, wrecked on a desert island, or languishing on a hostile shore? It is five years since he left us on that fatal voyage to China. My reason assures me that he is dead; yet, Amy, I can only think of him as living?"

"It is so with me, mother," said Amy, with a tremulous quiver of her lips. "I dream often that he is living—that he is coming home!"

"We need him in a hundred ways," said Mrs. Lester, sighing. If anything were to happen to me Amy, I shudder to think what would become of you. You have been brought up in luxury, and would feel keenly any change to poverty."

"Are we not rich, then, mother?" asked Amy, in surprise.

"I supposed so, dear, until three years ago," replied the mother sadly.

"Your father was a merchant and ship-owner, a partner of Colonel Nichols. But two years ago Colonel Nichols informed me that the out-standing debts of the firm more than balanced the assets; in short, Amy, that he was on the verge of bankruptcy, his fortune and ours alike wrecked!"

"I don't like Colonel Nichols!" said Amy, thoughtfully. "If he lost all his money with ours, how does he live in such grand style? To whom do his ships and great house belong?"

"To his nephew, Ally Bell. Colonel Nichols is Ally's guardian. The Colonel has nothing of his own, excepting a farm or two up country, which were not risked in the business.

Amy contracted her little brows reflectively, and was about to reply, when the garden gate swung on its hinges, and a boyish figure came lightly up the walk.

"It's Ally, mother—it's Ally Bell!" exclaimed Amy, all smiles and blushes. "I'll bring him to you."

The young girl ran lightly down the varandah steps and met the newcomer, linking her arm in his and drawing him gently toward the house.

He was a lad of seventeen, an orphan, the nephew and ward of Colonel Nichols. Bright and gay and handsome, Allen Bell was also impetous, ardent, and intelligent—one of those noble, manly boys who mature early into grand and noble men. Boy as he was, he loved Amy Lester with a pure and chivalrous love, which bade fair to deepen in time into the great love of his life.

He was the bearer of a letter from his uncle to Mrs. Lester, and having delivered it, he strolled with Amy down the garden walks into the cool shadows of a grove at the bottom of the garden.

"I've been expecting you this good while, Ally," said Amy with charming frankness. "I thought you would be down here to try those scientific experiments to-day."

We'll try them to-night, Amy," replied Ally. "The blue lights show better at night. I'm getting along finely in my chemistry, Amy. I like it best of all my studies."

"I am sure you do," said Amy earnestly, "You are the nicest boy I ever saw."

Ally Bell laughed aloud. Amy's child-like simplicity and outspoken truthfullness, were her greatest charm in his eyes.

"The sight of that brig yonder," said Ally, "reminds me that I promised to meet Colonel Nichols on board of it directly after I delivered that letter to your mother. I must go now, but you may expect me as soon as it's dark."

He clasped her in his arms and kissed her.

For a minute the youthful lovers stood at the garden gate, toward which they had slowly walked, and here they parted soberly—All to go down to the brig where he had engaged to meet his uncle, and Amy to return to her mother.

She found Mrs. Lester, the open letter in her lap, silent and motionless as a statue, her attitude that of profound dopair.

"What is it, mother?" cried Amy in wild alarm, springing to her side.

Mrs. Lester looked at her daughter with a woe-stricken face.

"Oh, Amy!" she cried, turning to that brave, childish heart for strength and comfort, "Colonel Nichols writes me that we are beggars. He reminds me that he has asked me three several times to marry him. And Amy, he says he knows your father to be dead, and he offers himself to me for the last time. He reminds me of my ill health, of your youth and helplessness. And he says"—and Mrs. Lester's voice broke down in a tempest of sobs—"that on the one hand he offers me wealth, comfort, and happiness, on the other poverty and sorrow. If I refuse him he swears to turn us out of our home to-morrow."

"Oh, mother!" exclaimed Amy, with a sharp cry, as she hid her face in her mother's bosom.

CHAPTER II.

ALLY ENTRAPPED

Before Ally Bell reached the brig lying at the wharf, his uncle, Colonel Nichols, had been there and arranged with the Captain, who went by the name of Hiley, to carry Ally off to China, for which service the Colonel promised to give the Captain the brig and ten thousand dollars, in case the boy never came back. Hiley was a murderer, whose real name was Sprouls, and Colonel Nichols knew it. And Colonel Nichols had robbed Mrs. Lester, and now wanted to rob his nephew and have him murdered, and Hiley knew that, and resolved that Ally Bell should never see Norfolk again.

"Where is the lad?" he asked, as he and Colonel Nichols finished drinking success to their nefarious schemes, to which the Colonel replied:

"He should be here at this very moment. Ah, I hear his step on deck now! Here he comes!"

Even as he spoke Ally Bell came hurrying into the cabin, his face flushed with pleasurable excitement.

"I'm just in time to see you off, Captain Hiley," he said, not noticing the guilty looks of the conspirators. "The wind is fair, and the crew anxious. A good voyage to you, Captain. Bring me some rare shells when you return. They are for a little girl's cabinet, and must be pretty."

"Aye, aye, Mr. Allen." responded the Captain heartily. Didn't you see my collection of shells in yonder state-room? No? You are welcome to your choice of them all, sir."

He advanced and flung open the state-room door.

Ally bent forward and looked in.

With a quick thrust, Hiley pushed him into the little room and hurriedly locked the door.

With an exultant smile Colonel Nichols said adieu and went ashore.

The next minute the hurried trampling of feet was blended with the songs of the stout seaman, as the brig moved slowly from the wharf toward the sea.

Ally's first thought, on finding himself shut up in Captain Hiley's state-room, was that the two men were joking—merely intending to scare him a little, and then let him out; but he soon discovered that the Quickstep—the brig was so named—had left her wharf and was standing down Elizabeth river toward the ocean.

The truth flashed upon him.

"I see it all!" he cried, leaping to his feet. "Hiley is taking me to sea with him! Captain Hiley!" he shouted, pounding on the wall, "open the door this minute! Let me out, or it will be bad for you!"

No reply was made to him—no attention paid to his cry.

He saw that he was fast, and was stunned by the knowledge of his situation.

CHAPTER III.

LESTER ESCAPES AND HEARS FROM HOME.

We left David Lester on his lonely island, planning his escape, with a ship in sight from the elevated point where he was at work. He waited till night and until a priest of the idolatrous temple came to chain him in his dungeon, where they nightly confined him; and then suddenly leaping upon the priest, he bore him to the floor, chained and gagged him, disguised himself in his priestly robes, stained his face brown with dirt, went to the shore where the canoes were lying, entered one of them, and paddled out to sea in which he had seen the ship.

He paddled for hours with all his strength, had gone so far that the lights of the island could not be seen, and yet no ship had been found; and now the wind was rising and a storm was threatening.

"Oh, God! Am I forsaken?" he cried, in an awful anguish, seized with a fear that the wind would take the ship from him. "Must I perish here?"

At that moment when hope was dying, he beheld a sight that turned all his wild woe into yet wilder ecstasy.

There, to the northward, was a ship standing directly towards him with all sails set to catch the rising breeze, and not half a mile away.

"Yes, there she is!" he shouted. "She is coming this way. I am saved—saved!"

He raised his arms to heaven in a mute thanksgiving and sobbed aloud the glad tears streaming down his worn and haggard cheeks.

The ship came nearer and nearer.

Heerdoubled his wild shouts, his heart and soul in his voice.

An answering cry came suddenly from the ship's deck, and she drew steadily nearer—swerved from her course slightly, and a rope was thrown from her deck, falling into his canoe.

He seized the rope in desperate eagerness, and a group of sailors leaning over the ship's side drew him aboard.

In an instat more the ship had resumed her course, and was moving in stately fashion before the breeze.

"Safe at last!" murmured Lester, leaning against the bulwarks, weak and nerveless as an infant. "Oh, the gladness of this hour!"

Poor man! He did not dream at that moment that his adverse fate was even then relentlessly closing around him; that he was on one of his own ships—the Cyclone; that that ship was commanded by a bitter foe in league with Colonel Nichols, who, on recognizing him, would without remorse consign him again to the mercies of the Pacific in his Indian canoe.

On inquiry Lester learned that the vessel was the Cyclone, and in the light of the cabin lamp recognized her captain. Tearing off his priestly robe, and wiping the stain from his face with its coarse folds, he exclaimed:

"Captain Sales, dont you know me?"

"David Lester!" cried the Captain, turning ashy pale, and grasping his stationery seat as though he had received a shock.

Lester wiped his brows and sat down, the Captain taking a seat opposite him.

He had so much to ask that his emotions choked his utterance, and prevented him from observing the look of deadly hatred with which the Captain regarded him. But he finally plied his questions fast, and learned that his wife yet lived, that his daughter Amy had grown into a lovely girl, and that both wife and daughter had long mourned him as dead. He also learned of his wife's poverty.

"Colonel Nichols settled up the firm affairs," said the captain reservedly, "and there was nothing left for Mrs. Lester. She has been living off his bounty these two or three years!—When your interest in this ship was sold, I bought it. The Colonel owns the other half!"

"But this is base fraud!" exclaimed Lester. "The Colonel has been untrue to the trust I reposed in him. I have had suspicions of his integrity during my long exile, but I have never dared to entertain them. I'll make matters straight on my return. I can prove my claims and bring him to justice, the dastardly villian! My poor Margaret!" and he groaned.

Lester's threat concerning Nichols seemed to stir up all the malice of the Captain's nature. He beheld his interest in the ship, fraudulently acquired, threatened, and he hated still more the lawful owner whose right in the Cyclone he had usurped.

"If report speaks truly," he said, "Mrs. Lester need not be called 'poor.' Colonel Nichols has long been paying her attentions, and when I left port, five months ago, the story was that they were engaged. The Colonel told me himself that he loved her and meant to marry her. No doubt by this time they are married."

This cruel thrust struck home to the poor husband's heart, and uttering a great cry, he fell forward with his face upon the table, while the Captain regarded him with a look of mingled hatred and exultation.

Leaving his victim thus stunned, Captain Sales went on deck, and seeing that a storm was rising, and thinking the time favorable for getting rid of Lester, he informed the crew that the strange man in the cabin was an insane creature, whom it would be unsafe to keep on board, and easily convinced them that it was their duty, as they valued their own lives, to set him adrift again. He then went below, called Lester on deck, and at once set him adrift in a well provisioned boat, notwithstanding the wretched man's petious appeals for mercy. The Cyclone then sailed on, and Lester's boat was soon lost sight of in the darkness. A short time afterward the storm broke furiously, and Captain Sales rubbed his hands as he thought of the certain fate of the poor waif whom he had so recently exposed to its power.

But the storm was of short duration; Lester's boat outrode it; and the next day he succeeded in reaching the Cloud Islands. His fame as an image carver had preceded him, and the Chief of the Cloud Islands, who was named Lanati, at once compelled him to go to work on an idol, informing him that he should spend the remaininder of his life in that odious service. The unhappy man was driven to despair by this terrible announcement. He toiled day after day, and night after night he planned to escape. But all his plannings were in vain, as he was heavily ironed, and closely guarded at night. But finally, after mouths of disappointment, when the attention of his guards was attracted elsewhere by the ceremonies of a feast, he succeeded in eluding their vigilance, and getting rid of his irons he escaped from the guard-house, and dashed wildly toward the sheltering obscurity of a thick forest, which he reached in safety, but not before his flight had been discovered, and scores of the islanders had started in pursuit of him.

An overuling Providence had so ordered it that a short time before Lesters's escape, Alley Bell had been left by Captain Hiley on an uninhabited island, within sight of the group on which Lester then was. Alley had been drugged by Captain Hiley, and while in a deep sleep had been left on the island, with his chest, a basket of provisions, and a full set of tools.

The boy on awakening, and finding himself thus left alone in the vast Pacific Ocean was crushed by a sense of his calamity. But he was a brave lad, and he soon rallied, and set at work to make the best of his case. He built himself a hut, and having a lot of fireworks in his chest, he arranged them so that he could play them off with effect, in case of any savages from the neighboring islands should come to molest him. His knowledge of chemistry and of fireworks, and his skill as a ventriloquist, was so great that he had acquired the title of "The Boy Magician," which title he determined to make good in case any savage visitors should attempt to work him mischief. He had been in his new home but a few days when he saw a fleet of cances and sail boats approaching his island, and hastily getting his fireworks in perfect order, he calmly awaited the arrival of the painted barbarians, whom he could already distinguish eagerly gazing at his cabin.

CHAPTER IV

THE MOST FIENDISH PLOT OF ALL.

The summer slipped away, and September was drawing to its close.

One morning late in the month, Colonel Nichols sat in his office, idly drumming on his desk with his fingers, an expression of satisfaction on his features.

He had been persecuting Mrs. Lester with his attentions, which she disdainfully repulsed. He had also conceived a vehement desire to avenge himself on her daughter Amy, who, believing that Ally had been sent off by Colonel Nichols, had been a constant thorn in his side for months.

"Well," he muttered, with a long, drawn breath, "I finished closing up my affairs yesterday. What is to be my next move? I can leave Norfolk at any time. It might not be a bad idea to take Mrs. Lester and Amy to my Cape Henry house. People begin to look coldly on me here, and they look on Mrs. Lester as an injured saint!"

He frowned darkly, as if unpleasant memories were recurring to him.

At this moment there sounded a heavy, uneven tread in the outer office. The clerks had all been discharged within the month, and there was no business doing. Nichols, therefore, did not stir from his seat, nor trouble himself to inquire the business of the intruder.

The heavy tread approached the inner office, the door was opened, and a man looked in.

Nichols saw him and sprang to his feet in astonishment.

"Captain Sales!" he ejaculated. "It can't be possible! Come in! Come right in!"

The man entered, closing the door behind him.

It was indeed Captain Sales, of the ship Cyclone—the same man who had inhumanly set David Lester adrift in the South Pacific, in the very teeth, as he had supposed, of a terrific tempest!"

The two men—fitting companions—shook hands heartily.

"When did you arrive, Captain?" demanded Nichols, proffering a chair. "This is a surprise! I wasn't expecting you this month!"

'I suppose not,' said Sales seating himself. "I ran into the Roads this very morning, and cast anchor not an hour ago. I concluded you didn't see me, since you didn't come off. We had a gale all the way home that blew us right along. Never made a better voyage out and in."

Nichols went to a closet cupboard, and brought out a bottle of brandy and a tumbler.

"Have a drink," he said, filling the glass. "How about your trading bsuiness? Seems to me you didn't stay long enough to do well."

"Well, I haven't done so well as usual, Colonel, that's a fact," replied Sales, between swallows of the liquor. "But I've got something of more importance to you than a thousand dollars more or less, Colonel."

"And what is that?" demanded Nichols.

Sales tossed off the remainder of the brandy, and sat the glass down heavily as he responded:

"It's a piece of news that will come hard to you, Colonel. David Lester i alive."

"Alive!"

Nichols reeled as if a bullet had entered his heart. His complexion turned livid.

"Alive!" he repeated, in a shrill, cutting whisper. "He has come back? He is in Norfolk?"

He looked around him wildly, as if seeking an avenue of escape.

"No, Colonel, he is not here. He boarded us just after a calm in the South Pacific. I saw him face to face, heard him tell how the vessel he went out in had been lost in a cyclone, and how he alone remained alive to tell the tale."

"And you brought him back?" cried Nichols, in that shrill, incisive whisper, putting his livid, scared face close to that of Sales, and fairly startling the latter by the glance of evil meaning that shot from his bloodshot eyes.—"You let him live—you, who will lose by his life and gain by his death?"

A regretful expression crossed the face of Captain Sales.

"If I did, I didn't mean to!" he exclaimed. "The fact is, Colonel, I meant to dispose of him in the quickest manner. I thought there was a big storm coming, so I set him adrift in an open boat. The storm blew over, and Lester, I am sure, made for the nearest islands. He was in a frail boat, the poorest of the lot, and I allowed him only a small allowance of provisions."

"Then he may be alive now on one of those Pacific islands!" ejeculated Nichols. "And he may be picked up by a vessel at any time, and come back to ruin me. I was sure he was dead. Tell me his story as he told it to you."

Sales complied with the order, while Col. Nichols paced the floor with hurried steps.

"Yes, he must have gone back to the island he escaped from, or to some neighboring island," cried Nichols, when his confederate had concluded.

"What a cursed fatality seems to pursue me! Sales, Lester is liable to come back, as I said before, at any time. His return would be my ruin. I tell you," he added excitedly, "I have done things for which he could send me to the state-prison. I should have to fly with the officers of justice on my track, and I should never dare return to claim my nephew's fortune. Sales, Lester must not come back! He shall not come back!"

"And how are we going to prevent it?" asked Sales. "No doubt he went back to the Land in the Sea, and was set to idol-carvings again; but he may escape again, or a friendly ship may rescue him, or some chance set him free—"

"But there shall not!" interrupted Nichols, with increasing agitation. "Is the Cyclone seaworthy?"

"Yes, Colonel. She's in splendid order. Could be got to sea at an hour's notice, if she were provisioned."

"Provision her at once. See to everything. She must be off within twenty-four hours. I am going in search of David Lester."

"What! to rescue him?"

"No," hissed Nichols; "to destroy him."

He continued his walk with increasing violence.

"And I will not go alone: Margaret Lester and her daughter shall go with me! If I succeed, and Lester perishes, his wife shall become mine. If I fail," and his eyes gleamed luridly, "and I arrive out there, to find that he has been rescued, I shall hold his wife and child as hostages, and demand my safety as the price of their freedom."

"I'm in with you, Colonel," said Sales admiringly. "And what is more, I can keep every one of the crew by being a little liberal with them."

"Then go to work immediately.—Set the men to unloading. Provision the ship, and be sure to provide wine and dainty stores for the woman and girl. I will send aboard furniture for three state-rooms, and one of my servants to set them in order. The servant will accompany us, to cook for and wait on the ladies. You under stand?"

"Yes; but how are we to get the ladies aboard?"

"They must be taken aboard to-night, and we must slip out of the Roads in the darkness that comes before daylight. You and I will go up to Mrs. Lester's cottage soon after dark, and gain an entrance into the house. The rest will be easy."

This programme, with amplifications, was resolved upon. Nichols provided his confederate with the necessary funds, and they separated—Sales to return to the ship, and Nichols to make certain purchases, and to send his servant down to the Cyclone.

They did not meet again until evening. The shadows were falling thickly when the two stealthily entered her garden, approaching the house while keeping in the shadow of the trees.

Mrs. Lester and Amy were in the parlor, the windows of which were wide open, the security of months having restored Mrs. Lester's former confidence. The two men could see the elder lady seated in her arm-chair, and the young girl, dressed in white, at the piano, upon which she was softly playing, accompanying the instrument with her voice.

The room was not lighted, both mother and daughter loving the gray twilight shadows.

On the steps of the kitchen porch, the colored serving-woman was sitting, and in the garden old Nicholas Collins and his wife were holding a lively discussion on some domestic question.

"Now is our time!" exclaimed Nichols, in a whisper. "Got the woolen socks over you boots? Good! Come along softly. I know Mrs. Lester's room, and the girl's adjoins it. Old Collins sleeps in the rear part. Now for it!"

The confederates softly mounted the steps of the verandah, entered the unlighted hall, and stole up stairs, unheard and unseen. The next moment they had secreted themselves in the closet adjoining Mrs. Lester's room and were ready for the execution of their villainous project. The Bedford Gazette.

Thursday Morning, October 21, 1869.

NOT QUITE SUCCESSFUL.

John W. Geary has been re-elected Governor of Pennsylvania. It is true his majority is only about 3,000, a loss of 14,000 on his majority three years ago which was 17,000; and it is also true that the 4,406 majority, claimed to have been cast for him in Philadelphia (without which he is defeated) was obtained by throwing out returns from Democratic precincts and other fraudulent practices; yet the shame is none the less that this great Commonwealth of ours should deliberately endorse this corrupt executive and continue him three years longer in the office which he has disgraced. The white voters of Pennsylvania, the "superior race," as we were wont to name them, the intelligent, honest, thinking masses, as we once candidly believed them to be, have done this thing and have done it, too, with due premeditation and malice aforethought. They have voted themselves no better than negroes and by their ballots have pronounced John W. Geary quite good enough to be their Governor. Well, perhaps, they know best about these matters. We take their decision as correct, and abide it as cheerfully as possible. If we should hereafter insist on it that they were right in deciding themselves no better than negroes and that Geary is entirely fit to govern them, we hope they will not quarrel with their own decision. And just here let us say that the men who voted for John W. Geary, knowing him to be a corrupt and unworthy man, as well as those who are, in principle, opposed to the Fifteenth Amendment and yet voted the Radical State and Legislative tickets, are less entitled, morally speaking, to the elective franchise, than the humblest African in Bedford county. They are negroes with a white skin. We have had enough of their duplicity and hypocrisy. If we are to deal with negroes, give us the black ones.

Nor are the Democrats without blame. Their indifference and lukewarmness alone were sufficient to bring defeat to their ticket. Let us not be misunderstood. There be good and true and steadfast men who never flag in their efforts to give success to our party. To these all honor for their fortitude and fidelity! But thousands of Democrats failed to attend the late election, because they deemed the contest a hopeless one, others did not vote because the county tickets did not please them, and others still occupied themselves in electioneering for candidates on the Radical local tickets and thus distracted and confused the ranks in which they claimed to fight. Will Democrats never learn wisdom? Will they forever be tools and catspaws for their political enemies? Can we not fight one solitary battle with our columns unbroken, our forces united, harmonious and determined on victory? Are we to be always beaten by our own dissensions and divisions? These questions may be asked with propriety of some our of own Bedford county Democrats, but they apply elsewhere as well. The Philadelphia Democracy, especially, should ponder them.

Not quite successful! No! Shame on the laggards who might have given us victory! Shame on the men who vote at primary elections and then bolt the nominations if they do not suit them! But let us have patience. Time makes all things even. We have gained 14,000 since the last gubernatorial election, in spite of the laggards and the malcontents. Let us perfect our organization, and another year will bring us a triumph, brilliant, complete and overwhelming.

OUTRAGEOUS FRAUDS IN PHILADELPHIA.

The Board of Radical Return Judges in Philadelphia, have been detected in the commission of the most outrageous frauds. By the most unblushing rascality the real majority has been swelled several thousand votes, and a Democratic State Senator, and a Democratic Assemblyman counted out. An account of their performances is published elsewhere. The Philadelphia Ledger, an independent and reliable neutral paper, thus condemns these outrages in an editorial:

Every citizen should read the report published this morning of the proceedings in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday, before Judge Allison, concerning the proceedings of the Return Judges of the elections, and the report of the proceedings of the Return Judges themselves. They are of a character to demand serious attention. It there appears that a return filed in the office of the Prothonotary of the Common Pleas was mutilated and falsified; that another return was stolen from the custody of the Return Judge, and that these two crimes eventuated in giving a certificate of election to a candidate for the Thirteenth Legislative District who was not elected; that there were well supported charges that election papers in the First Senatorial District were falsified; that Judge Allison was obliged to denounce from the bench the serious crime of falsifying and mutilating the records of the Court—records upon which the safety of every man's interests and property depends; that a writ issued from the Court and directed to the Return Judges was resisted by violence and that Judge Allison was obliged to authorize the Sheriff, to summon a sufficient force to execute the writ; and that notwithstanding all Judge Allison said as to the duty of the Return Judges to do everything necessary to insure an "honest return," they did nothing towards getting any legislative return from the Seventeenth Ward, of inquiring into the falsification of the return there or in the first Senatorial district. What Judge Allison said of some of these proceedings is what every honest citizen should say of all, that they endanger the very foundations of society. Twice within two days the writs issued by the Court were disregarded and resisted by violence by election officers. There can be no safety or good order where the supremacy of the law and the Courts are defied in this way, and these actual wrongs should be visited with the same universal censure that was visited on the threats of violence used by another official previous to the election, and all citizens should encourage the Courts, in any efforts to have such wrongs set right, as well as to have the perpetrators punished.

The Radical papers of the city do not dare to defend or extenuate these outrages. Even Forney's Press is forced to be quiet in regard to them.

OUR CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

The vote on the State ticket in this Congressional district, at the late election, shows a Democratic majority of 226! This is a gain of 370 over last year, when Cessna's majority over Kimmell was 144. The vote of the several counties comprising the district, was as follows:

	Geary	Packer
Adams	——	387 maj.
Bedford	——	347 "
Franklin	——	307 "
Fulton	——	386 "
Somerset	1201 maj.
		1427
		1201
	Packer's maj.	226

By the time J. Cessna gets through with his appointments, this majority will be doubled. The census is to be taken next year, and J. will soon have to peddle out marshalships to anxious expectants. We advise our "Republican" friends who expect to be marshals to be on the alert and see to it that their claims are pressed upon the attention of the aforesaid J. If they cannot succeed in getting appointments, their boys may be made clerks to those who are appointed. Half a loaf is better than no bread. Let every "Republican" politician in the county ask the appointment of census-taker, and either he or some member of his family will get a crumb from the table of Ulysses I. J. C. dares not disappoint any "Republican" politician, for the 226 majority for Packer in the 16th Congressional district is a sharp reminder to him that he had better keep all the friends he has and make as many more as possible.

REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT.

The official returns of this Representative district show the following result:

	Longaker,	Long,	Noble,	Sipes.
Somerset,	3026,	2959,	1840,	1804.
Bedford,	2414,	2429,	2930,	2816.
Fulton,	658,	636,	1090,	1114.
	6098,	6024,	5860,	5734.

It will be seen that Longenecker has 238 majority over Noble and 365 over Sipes, and that Long has 164 over Noble and 290 over Sipes. This is a very close vote, and if the Democrats who staid at home on election-day, because they thought there was no hope for the election of our candidates, had done their duty, both Noble and Sipes would have been elected. But there is no use lamenting what is past. Let us resolve that hereafter our full vote must be polled.

SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

The official returns of the vote in this Senatorial district are as follows:

	Scull, R.	Findlay, D.
Somerset,	2758	2012
Bedford,	2465	2842
Fulton,	679	1071
	5902	5925
		5902
	Findlay's maj.	23

For this victory we owe thanks to many conservative "Republicans," who, disgusted with the extravagance and corruption of the radical state Legislature, determined to vote for a change. Mr. Findlay's election is a triumph of the friend's of Reform over blind and bigoted partizanship. We congratulate the people of this Senatorial district on this auspicious result.

THERE are 3,200 Democratic voters in Bedford county. About 400 of these remained at home on the 12th inst. There are about 2650 Radical voters in this county, about 200 of whom did not vote at the late election.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

The loose statements and hypocritical pretensions which even high government officials are frequently guilty of making, is admirably exposed by the Boston Post in the case of Mr. Secretary Boutwell. The Secretary of the Treasury, says that paper, is the possessor of a remarkably minute turn of mind, and it is therefore the more singular that such considerable trifles as the following happened to escape his attention: He stated in Philadelphia that the public debt at present amounts to $2,450,000,000 and at the same time insists on its payment in gold. If it were to be paid, at the current price of gold, the debt would be increased by more than seven hundred millions of dollars! Why does he not then, if he would be thought a hard money man above others, state the amount of the debt in actual coin, instead of in currency, and so say that it is over thirty-one hundred millions of dollars in its sum total, rather than twenty four hundred millions? Again, Mr. Boutwell goes into the market and buys bonds for currency at one hundred and fifteen, when gold is selling for one hundred and thirty odd. If he stickles for paying them in coin, why does he not pay for them at the latter rate, instead of buying them of the public creditor on the currency basis? How hollow are the pretensions of quacks everywhere. Mr. Boutwell takes coin for party effects, but buys at paper prices to suit his actual needs.

WHAT IS A CARPET-BAGGER?

The question has been asked, answered, and settled in the minds of all decent men. But the Charleston Daily News paints the animal so truly to the life, that we must present the picture:

"And there is, it must be confessed, some tact in the animal. It is not attempted to prove that what is called a carpet-bagger by any other name would smell more sweet. The whole formula is summed up in these few words: 'What I am, he is.' Ergo, 'what he is, I am.' This is the short of it. The long of it is that, according to the carpet-bag law, every man living in South Carolina, who is not native of the State, is to all intents and purposes a true carpet-bagger. This is the Radical definition of the term; and it can be seen with half an eye that if every German and Virginian, Irishman and Alabamian, Scotchman and Georgian, now living in South Carolina, can be set down as one of the carpet-bag brigade the body becomes at once highly respectable, and worthy, as a whole, of confidence and trust.

"But calling a decent man a carpet-bagger will not make him one. There is not a person in South Carolina, white or colored, who does not know what constitutes a carpet-bagger. And as long as this is the case, the effort of the South Carolina carpet-bagger, whether from Connecticut, Ohio, or Massachusetts, to make himself decent at the cost of the adopted citizens of the State, will be as vain as the famous attempt of Mrs. Partington to sweep back with a broom the broad waves of the Atlantic.

"As we have already hinted what is not a carpet-bagger, it may be expected that we should say what is that sublime compound of cheek, rascality and nastiness. The accepted definition at the South is both pointed and simple. A carpet-bagger is a Northern Radical who took up his abode in the South 'when the Union came in,' made politics his trade, and lives in office, or out of it, by defaming and plundering the Southern people. This is the carpet-bagger. This is the man who robs and slanders all men with excellent impartiality, who is as little the friend of the negro as the friend of the white race; who has no religion but love of self, and no God but his pocket.

"No Southern mad can ever be a carpet-bagger, although he may fall into the depths of scallawagerie. No adopted citizen, whatever the place of his birth, who honestly works, for his living, can be a carpet-bagger. No Northern man who is engaged in legitimate business, and supports himself by his business, is called a carpet-bagger.

"The dividing line is broad and plain; for the carpet-bagger thrives by cozening the negro and cheating the white man; by calumny and fraud; by misrepresentation and abuse; by public pap and private bribe; by all that is foul, rotten and unclean.

"Well! well! well! who shall touch pitch and not be defiled! Adios! carpet-bagger."

FASHIONS.

Paris Bonnets and Evening Dresses.

A bonnet of white material has a point in the centre of the front, an upright plaiting of material above this point, like a coronal, a long drooping feather of snowy down at one side; the other side a half opened pink rose, with a cluster of buds and leaves. The strings are white, with a fall of blonda lace falling over them.

A blue velvet, of delicate shade has a puffing of a darker shade across the top, a cluster of autumn-tinted leaves and flowers, a blue shaded feather, and a lace scarf.

A pretty bonnet of black velvet has a fall of lace and a bow of velvet at the back, a black plume on one side and a cluster of autumn leaves on the other, and a ribbon circlet in front, with a bow on one side.

EVENING DRESSES.

A light blue silk has three graduated flounces of Donna Maria gauze upon the skirt. Overskirt in two parts open at the sides, but caught up and joined by rosettes—both back and front is rounding, and ruffled with white gauge. Sashes of silk are trimmed to correspond. The corsage is medium low, with a puffing of gauze around the neck, and lace edging above it.

A silk—the new shade of rose—has one flounce in box plaits upon the back of the skirt. The front has two flounces of silk edged with wide white lace, and is festooned at the side by rosettes of silk with a lace centre. Over this falls two long scarf ends of lace. The corsage and short sleeves are trimmed with white lace. This is an elegant evening dress.

A white silk trained skirt has a black chantilly lace over dress that was much admired.

An elegant evening dress of satin is a delicate shade of coral, a new and fashionable color, and trimmed with ruffles of white Donna Marie gauze, set on with white satin folds. A short over skirt of white gauze festooned at the sides by rosettes of white satin. The corsage is medium high on the back, and quite a low Pompadour front, and is trimed with white satin folds having a fall of white point applique lace around the neck. A puffed lace underwaist is worn with it. The belt is of coral colored silk bound with white satin, and a white satin bow and ends will be worn at the back. —N. Y. Post.

THE NEGRO RACE DOOMED.—The Richmond (Va.) Whig says: Under the form of slavery that existed in the Southern States, the negroes were the most prolific race in the world. As illustrating the effect upon them in this particular of their changed condition, the Norfolk Journal says: A gentleman informed us some weeks since that on his farm there are nine married negro couples, but not one child among them. Another friend, from the south side of James River, told us the other day that there are, within a quarter of a mile of his house, eight negro families, among whom there has but one child been born since the war. We have heard many such accounts from various other sources, all pointing to the fact that the increase of the colored people is now much less than their decrease by death. In addition to the facts we have stated, we read in many newspapers that it is believed that the same state of things is general in the South. The next census will give some strange revelations on this subject." It may have a bearing on this question to mention that, while the white population of this city is undoubtedly materially greater than the colored, the official report of mortality last week showed that there were twenty-five deaths among the latter to thirteen among the former.

An inventive youth in Wisconsin bent down a sapling, hitched himself to it by a rope about his neck and let it spring. He didn't live to have his invention patented.

An Indiana town boasts a giant who has by his great size vanquished the ague. That embarrassing affliction attacked him the other day and worked four days to shake him all over, but failed and left in disgust.

People sometimes talk about the barrenness of our Rocky Mountain Territory: The entire wheat crop of Montana this season will average not less than thirty-three, and perhaps thirty-five bushels to an acre.

Some young ladies in Fond du Lec, Wisconsin, are in the habit of blockading the sidewalks so as to compell the young men to go out into the muddy streets, a practice on the part of the females which a local paper calls "boiled cussedness with a scum on."

Forty-seven illicit stills, calculated to produce over 3,000 gallons per day, have been destroyed in Virginia. The officers visited seven counties in twenty-three days, and traveled 2,000 miles. Eight hundred gallons of apple brandy were confiscated.

The assessment roll of taxable property of San Francisco for the fiscal year 1869-70 shows a total valuation of $100,344,595, consisting of $30,799,294, personal property, and $69,295,501 of land and fixed improvements. The city pays now nearly half the State tax.

The picturesque way the ladies now have of wearing their shawls is very notable, says a New York letter writer. What was once commonly a very ugly garment, has by an adroit change in the mode of wearing it, become as striking in effect as the costumes of the Orientals.

Three years ago a Georgia planter sold his plantation for $9000. As the purchaser was unable to make the payments, he was compelled to take the land back and cancel the bargain. Since then he has made three crops of cotten on the land, and a few days ago he sold it for $18,750.

A negro girl named Jennie Croir hung herself on the place of Wm. Winchester, in Lancaster county, S. C., recently, because her parents opposed her marriage. This is about the first instance on record when a negro destroyed herself for love, and as such is worthy of a passing notice.

A poor couple in London, taking counsel with each other how to reduce their expenses, decided to drown their dog, a great pet, but costing seven pence a week. The wife herself threw the animal from the bridge, but his loss preyed upon her mind till she went crazy, and drowned herself also in the Thames a week later.

Speaking of the Congressional Library at Washington, a correspondent says: "Not five per cent. of Congressmen are readers in the sense of ardent lovers of full scholarship; not above twenty per cent. read anything but novels. The library, so far as Congress is concerned, is a repository of novels for their wives and daughters."

General Tom Thumb and wife, accompanied by Commodore Nutt and Minnie Warren, have commenced their journey around the world. They are now in California, taking an average of one thousand dollars per day at their exhibitions. They next go to Japan, China, India, and Australia, returning two years hence, via Great Britain.

A young lady in Auburn, New York, refused to marry her sweetheart, unless he stopped chewing tobacco. He agreed, and the wedding took place in due season. Returning from the bridal tour in the cars the other day, he pulled a roll of something from his pocket. She thought it was tobacco, she clutched it and threw it out of the window. Alas, it was a roll of money $2,500 in all—and it has not been recovered.

Dr. Livingstone, the great traveler, in regard to whose fate a year ago there was so much anxious solicitude, has again been heard from. A letter received from Lake Banglew, reports him in excellent health and spirits, and states further that this indefatigable explorer of the wilds of Africa has at last discovered the long sought for source of the river Nile. It is to be hoped that he will be restored to his friends and country, and that we shall have another volume or two of his interesting travels and discoveries.

A reporter went to interview ex-President Johnson on the Senatorial question, and this is what he got for his trouble:—"As a general thing, all men ought to marry while young. You see when we grow old our tastes and habits become fixed, and they are hard to change to suit another. I believe like Franklin, that matrimony ought to be encouraged. But at the present day a young man who has not inherited a fortune, and who must rely upon his efforts for every cent that he gets, will find difficulties in the way.

The San Francisco Bulletin says the mining stocks sold in the stock board there are worth about $5,000,000 less now than they sold for nine months ago. Until the past six months mining stocks have been favorite and easily managed collaterals with the banks, and thus brokers and others were largely aided in carrying on their sharp operations; but of late bankers fight shy of stocks. The belief appears to be gaining ground among them that their money is much safer in the hands of those who borrow with the honest object of developing some interest which will tend to build up the State than with those who want it merely to create fictitious values in stocks.

There is to be a barn, stable—or rather a palace for beasts—some twenty miles from San Francisco, which cost the owner about seventy-five thousand dollars! It is finished with the most costly woods of the country, inlaid and interlaced; and instead of brass and iron, silver has been as freely used as in our most extensive dwelling houses.

Minnesota estimates her loss of wheat by the late storm at five millions of bushels. As Pennsylvania has the transportation of this article, the item is one of State interest.

Wisconsin speculators are making a good thing buying cranberries and game of Indians, and paying them in counterfeit currency. And then if the red man complains he is denounced a thief, and shot down for his impudence.

The ladies of Baltimore have undertaken the task of raising funds to erect a building for the Maryland State Asylum for Inebriates, which was chartered by the Legislature nine years ago.

The latest from England is that a subscription is being taken to erect a monument to Adam the father of mankind, to be located on the supposed site of the Garden of Eden, in Mesopotamia.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint, and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver, and put it to work: then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe, a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall-bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care), that will unlock the gall-bladder and starts the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the Alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills, or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has Consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood: then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

When there is no lung disease, and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompanying each, make it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless the patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond Street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5 Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists.

FASHION.—The fashion for coats this fall is a good deal like that of last fall, particularly with those who are compelled to wear last fall's coats.

G. R. OSTER & Co. have just received a large assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's superior custom-made Boots and Shoes. Call and see. They speak for themselves. sep30m1.

LAST NOTICE.—The books and accounts of the GAZETTE Office, have been placed in the hands of H. Nicodemus, Esq., for collection. Those in arrears will save costs by settling at an early date. All accounts prior to the first of August, 1868, are included in the above.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE.—Everybody in St. Clairsville and surrounding country, in want of Cooking Stoves, Parlor Stoves, Office Stoves, Tinware of every description, Copper Kettles, &c., &c., should call at the new Tin Store of J. We have received the October number of Peters' Musical Monthly, which is full of choice music, both instrumental and vocal. This is decidedly the best and cheapest Musical Monthly published, and should be in the hands of every lover of music. Now is the time to subscribe. Address J. L. Peters, 198 Broadway, New York. Price, only $3.00 per annum.

WATCH FOR COUNTERFEITS.—A new grist of $10 counterfeit greenbacks have been set afloat throughout the State. This last issue is so well executed, and so close an imitation of the genuine, that professional experts can hardly detect the difference. The letter P., to Pay the bearer, has an upstroke; in the genuine it has none. The fine lines which form the shading around the Eagle's head in the vignette, are coarse and scratchy compared with the genuine.

RAILROAD COMMITTEE.—The President of the late railroad meeting has appointed the following gentlemen a committee to solicit subscriptions: Isaac Mengel, Daniel Washabaugh, Job M. Shoemaker, William Chencweth and John R. Jordan. These men are known as active business men, and we trust that they will give this important matter their earnest attention. If the proper efforts are made, a railroad to Bedford will soon be a fixed fact.

DEMOREST'S YOUNG AMERICA.—The November number of this popular little publication has just reached us, and is decidedly the best number that has been issued. Opening the bright cover, out popped a beautiful bird, a supplement to the Magazine, worth its cost. The departments for the children, the "Little Housekeeper" and the "Young Farmer" are excellent. In fact, the entire contents are just such as are calculated to please and instruct the juveniles. It is the best investment for $1.50 that we know of. Published at 838 Broadway.

A Bill has already been introduced in the Tennessee Legislature providing for the calling of a constitutional Convention, to be held in November, for the purpose of forming a new constitution repealing the present outrageous instrument which was made by the carpet-baggers, under military protection and in obedience to the promptings of Northern Radicals, in defiance of the will of the Tennessee people. That such a convention will be held and such a new Constitution formed and adopted by the people, we have no doubt. The liberties of Tennessee require this, and we hope to see it done as soon as possible. The other Southern states, we doubt not, will soon do likewise."

PETROLEUM AS FUEL.—Apparatus for generating steam in stationary engines, or those on steamboats or locomotives, by the use of crude petroleum for fuel has been in operation in Washington city for a month, and is at last pronounced a complete success by engineers and machinists. The petroleum is evaporated and burned in the furnace in the form of gas. Perfect safety from accidental fire is claimed. The inventor maintains that with this apparatus he can get up as much steam power with two gallons of petroleum as is usually gotten with a ton of good coal; that is, he can run a locomotive or steamship as far and as fast with one barrel of oil as with fifteen tons of coal, and with much more convenience and safety. The application of the invention to driving the machinery of a foundry in Washington is to be made to day, for the benefit of officers of the Navy Department, who are to report officially upon it.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY.—This and a sewing-machine is beginning to be considered indispensable by young housekeepers and ladies generally; but the Monthly must be had, whether the sewing machine is or not. One of the great things in its favor is, that gentlemen like it. They find it sensible instead of frivolous, full of practical information and useful ideas, which save young and inexperienced wives and mothers any amount of trouble and expense. The illustrations and patterns, the music and other departments, are each worth the cost, and we advise husbands who want to do a really good thing for their wives, themselves, and the family generally, to send $3.00 to 838 Broadway, N. Y., immediately.

BARN BURNED.—The barn of Adam C. Diehl, of Napier township, was burned about noon on Monday last with all its contents, consisting of hay, grain &c. The loss is estimated at $2000. Nothing definite is known as to the origin of the fire. Mr. Diehl was away from home at the time and only arrived to find his barn in ashes. This is a serious misfortune for Mr. Diehl as he had just purchased the property last spring and was laboring hard to secure a home for himself and family, and could ill afford the heavy loss that has so suddenly fallen upon him. We bespeak for him kindly sympathy and assistance of all who have it in their power to encourage and assist him.—Inquirer.

OUR NEW FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

The superior merits of the "Singer" Machines over all others, for either Family use or Manufacturing purposes, are so well established and so generally admitted, that an enumeration of their relative excellences is no longer considered necessary.

OUR NEW FAMILY MACHINE,

which has been brought to perfection regardless of time, labor, or expense, is now confidently presented to the public as incomparably the Best Sewing Machine in existence. The machine in question is Simple, Compact, Durable and Beautiful. It is quiet, light running, and never before attempted upon a single Machine,—using either SILK, TWIST, LINEN OR COTTON THREAD, and sewing with equal facility the very finest and coarsest materials, and anything between the two extremes, in the most beautiful and substantial manner. Its attachments for Hemming, Braiding, Cording, Tucking, Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are Novel and Practical, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.

New designs of the Unique, Useful, and Popular Folding Tops and Cabinet Cases, peculiar to the Machines manufactured by this Company, have been prepared for enclosing the new Machine.

A faint idea, however, can at best be conveyed through the medium of a (necessarily) limited advertisement; and we therefore urge every person in quest of a Sewing Machine, by all means to examine and test, if they can possibly do so, all the leading rival Machines before making a purchase. A selection can then be made understandingly. Branches or agencies for supplying the "Singer" Machines will be found in nearly every city and town throughout the civilized world, where Machines will be cheerfully exhibited, and any information promptly furnished. For assurance of its excellent properties, read the following certificates:

BEDFORD, May 8, 1869.

I take great pleasure in giving my testimony to the value of "Middleton's Wonderful Pain Cure." I have been a martyr to Rheumatism. For two months previous to Feb. 25th, last, I was suffering intensely with pain so severe, that during all that time I had not one night of comfortable sleep. I could not put my hands to my face, could not comb my own hair, nor feed myself; but after having the Pain Cure applied once, I found relief enough to give me comfortable sleep, and with its steady use, I continued to get better, and now at the end of ten weeks from its first application, I have comparatively free use of my hands, sleep well and can attend to business. It has done me more good than all other medicines I have ever used put together, and I cheerfully give this certificate of its value.

ELI M. FISHER.

BEDFORD, April 14, 1869.

Mr. W. W. Middleton,

This is to certify that I was taken with Rheumatism, in my right shoulder, on the evening of the 8th inst., so that I was unable to raise my hand to my face. I got some of your Pain Cure and applied it twice, and was entirely relieved. I would recommend to every one who suffers with Rheumatism to give it a trial and be cured.

Yours &c., A. F. MILLER.

BEDFORD, May 17, 1869.

Mr. Middleton,

DEAR SIR:—I have used several bottles of your medicine in my family, and find it to be all you claim for it. Yours, truly,

JOHN HAFER.

BEDFORD, May 13, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used "Middleton's Pain Cure," for Rheumtism, and was very much benefited by it. JOHN HARRIS.

BEDFORD, May 18, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used Middleton's Liniment, for the Rheumatism which I had in my right shoulder so bad that I could not get my hand to my head without great pain, and after a few applications was entirely relieved.

L. F. DART.

BEDFORD, May 1, 1869.

Mr Middleton,

Dear Sir:— Mrs. Bowser was in much suffering for some four weeks with Rheumatism, and got some of your Pain Cure, and the first night I applied it it eased the pain; and after keeping on using it for two weeks, she was restored to health. I feel it to be my duty, as it is a pleasure, to write this recommendation for the benefit of others. JACOB BOWSER.

BEDFORD, May 16 1869.

Mr W. W. Middleton:

Sir—I procured a bottle of your Liniment for Rheumatism, and it gives me great pleasure in saying that after using it for two days, my rheumatism was completely relieved. My sister was suffering, at the same time, with Inflamatory Rheumatism in her right hand and wrist—after using it for several days she was relieved. I consider it the best remedy I ever heard of.

JOHN KEEFE.

BEDFORD, May 24, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used one bottle of Middleton's Liniment, for Rheumatism, and think it a good cure, and would recommend it to all persons that are afflicted with the above disease.

AUGUSTUS CARVER.

BEDFORD, May 26, 1869.

Mr. Middleton:

Sir—I procured one bottle of your medicine and used one-half of it for Rheumatism, which effected a permanent cure up to this time. I cannot hesitate in saying that it is the best remedy I ever used. A. B. CARN.

This excellent PAIN CURE is prepared only by W. W. MIDDLETON, Bedford, Pa., to whom all orders for the medicine should be addressed.

NATURE'S GREAT RESTORER.

SCHEETZ'S

CELEBRATED

BITTER CORDIAL.

This medical preparation is now offered to the public as a reliable substitute for the many worthless compounds which now flood the market. It is purely vegetable, composed of various herbs, gathered from the great storehouse of nature, and selected with the utmost care. It is not recommended as a CURE ALL, but by its direct and salutary influence upon the Heart, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, Stomach and Bowels, it acts both as a preventive and cure for many of the diseases to which those organs are subject. It is a reliable Family Medicine, and can be taken by either infant or adult with the same beneficial results. It is a certain, prompt and speedy remedy for DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, BOWEL COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA, LOWNESS OF SPIRITS, FAINTINGS, SICK-HEADACHE, &c. For Chills and Fevers of all kinds, it is far better and safer than quinine, without any of its pernicious effects. It creates an appetite, proves a powerful digester of food, and will counteract the effects of liquor in a few minutes.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

THE GREAT DESIDERATUM OF THE AGE.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

For all the purposes of a LAXATIVE Medicine.

Perhaps no one Medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, LISTLESSNESS, LANGUOR and LOSS of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For LIVER COMPLAINT and its various symptoms, BILLIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILIOUS COLIC and BILIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For DYSENTERY or DIARRHŒA, but one mild dose is generally required.

For RHEUMATISM, GOUT, GRAVEL, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, PAIN IN THE SIDE, BACK and LOINS, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For SUPPRESSION a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

MUSICAL DOINGS.—Since Mr. Waters gave up publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodeons. He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs. Many people of the present day, who are attracted, if not confused, with the flaming adeertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but we happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Expositions and "honors" connected therewith were ever thought of; indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Pianofortes now in our residence (where it has stood for many years,) of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet-toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this, some of the best amateur players in the city, as well as several celebrated pianists, have performed on the same piano, and all pronounce it a superior and first-class instrument. Stronger endorsement we could not give.—Home Journal. jan15,'69.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE OOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, havo been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this Sarsaparilla: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.
